ABSTRACT

Rasmi khat of the Holy Qur'an is unique in its spelling style. The subject of learning this spelling has become an independent science with its own sources and foundations. Therefore, this science is taught as a separate subject in prestigious universities and institutes in the world.

Mushaf rasmi is studied based on the following sources:

- 1. The oldest manuscript mushafs. The main and most respected of them are the Mushafs attributed to Hazrat Usman;*
 - 2. Early works on formal letters. The importance of grouping these works is that their authors read Uthman's Mushafs themselves, saw the writing of the words with their own eyes, and told them to their students and recorded them in their works.*
 - 3. Collecting works. This type of works is so named because it covers all the necessary arguments on the subject, unlike those of the previous stage.*
 - 4. Clauses. In order to make it easier to remember the information about the picture letter, the scribes put the information in verse and wrote poems.*
- The following lines show the most important of these sources.*
